

The Art and Science of Microeconomic Modeling - a course by Professor Stark

A reminder

In the summer semester of 2023, a two-week course entitled “The Art and Science of Microeconomic Modeling” will be given at the Faculty of Economic Sciences, University of Warsaw by Professor Oded Stark.

Professor Stark is a Professor at the Faculty of Economic Sciences, University of Warsaw.

Professor Stark is Doctor honoris causa (University of Warsaw), a Ministry of Science and Higher Education (Poland) Lifetime Achievement Awardee, and a Presidential Professor of Economics (Poland). Oded Stark is a prolific researcher whose outstanding work has been published and cited in top economics journals. In the RePEc / IDEAS ranking of economics professors he is listed four times: top 1% in the European Union, top 1% in Europe, top 1% in the world, and top (out of a field that is 720 strong) in Poland: <https://ideas.repec.org/top/top.poland.html> => Authors. As of November 2022, Oded Stark has 55 articles published / forthcoming in internationally refereed outlets co-authored with Polish Ph.D. students / young Polish scholars.

Lectures given by Professor Stark are well received by students, partly because of his charisma, openness, and non-standard way of teaching. Professor Stark is also of the habit of offering doctoral scholarships and research assistantships to his best students. More information about Professor Stark can be found at <http://ostark.uni-klu.ac.at/>.

“The Art and Science of Microeconomic Modeling” course is intended for Ph.D. and advanced M.A. students, and is held in English. The participation requirements are well-developed mathematical skills and fluency in English. Passing the two-week intensive course is equivalent to gaining 30 hours of an elective course (International Economics students) or 30 hours of an “economics extension” (‘rozszerzenie ekonomii’) course (students of programs taught in Polish). For Quantitative Finance students, the course will be credited as an additional course. For Data Science students, the course will be credited as an elective course (economics or finance).

The course will be held in an intensive manner during April 17, 2023 - April 28, 2023. The schedule of the course is displayed below.

M.A. students accorded the highest grade in the exam of the course increase their chances of a successful application for Ph.D. studies, and of writing a Ph.D. thesis under the supervision of Professor Stark.

Registration for the course can be done via e-mailing to: Przemysław Mroczkowski <p.mroczkowski@uw.edu.pl>

Registration for the course can be done until February 28, 2023.
