kontakt: licencje@wne.uw.edu.pl

I hereby declare that I am a student/employee of the University of Warsaw and I accept the terms and conditions of use for the SAS Institute Inc. software licensed by the University, including the right to install and use a copy of the SAS package on a computer and/or a personal computer for home use. Temporarily, the software may be used outside of the territory of the Republic of Poland, but only for up to 3 months and only on a personal computer.

I acknowledge and undertake to comply with the following conditions:

1. The software is the copyrighted property of SAS Institute Inc. Neither I nor the University owns the Software or copies thereof that have been provided to me.
2. I am not authorised to copy the Software or share it with others.
3. The source code from which the Software code is derived is a trade secret of SAS and SAS licensors and I am not authorised to access the Source Code. I am not allowed to disassemble or decompile the Software or otherwise attempt to access the Source Code.
4. I undertake to use the Software solely for educational, scientific, or research purposes while complying with applicable export and import laws of the United States of America. Any commercial or for-profit use of the Software is strictly prohibited.
5. If my relationship with the University indicated at the beginning of this Declaration and which constitutes the basis for authorisation to use the Software or when requested by SAS, I undertake to immediately return the Software to an authorised person from the University, remove any copies of the Software remaining in my possession, and discontinue accessing the Software.
6. If I breach any of the obligations contained in this Statement, the University may take appropriate disciplinary action against me, and SAS may also take appropriate legal measures against me.
